WINTER STORM FEBRUARY 2013

In view of the Winter Storm that has now arrived in the Northeast, American Domestic Cargo Service, Plymouth Massachusetts office and the New Jersey Headquarter Office will be closing at 1:30 PM today. We have made arrangements to have all shipments handled in our absence with the exception of what may arrive unexpected via air freight or new ground shipments needing last minute arrangements that we have not be notified of.

If you have any emergencies or require services during this afternoon's storm please contact any one of our other offices who will be happy to assist. They will have access to all information in our systems regardless of location and can process whatever supply chain needs required. Visit www.shipamerican.com for a complete phone listing of all offices.

Please travel safe and have a good weekend,
