American Cartage & Distribution (AC&D)

Change of Venue for our Warehousing Distribution Model

First we would like to thank our clients who utilize our warehousing and distribution services. We truly appreciate your business and we are very thankful to be able to provide these supply chain services.

As you may be aware, approximately two years ago we had formed a joint venture with JAM-N Logistics for the purposes of improving our warehousing platform with an eye towards growth. With that continued mission in mind, the JV will be terminated effective March 31st and AC&D will move forward. Beginning April 1st we will be deploying a much more robust WMS system and a changed venue in how we handle your national warehousing and distribution needs. All this with an eye on delivering the ultimate in logistic services and the very best in customer care that will continue to focus on improving service levels in all areas of the USA.

The above said, here is what will happen at the end of this month so you may make any arrangements needed as it relates to warehouse insurance or notifying other suppliers or vendors that would be affected.

Fairview New Jersey Warehouse (ACD-NJ)

ACD-NJ will become the central point of contact for the entire USA as it relates to warehousing needs. All systems management, billing, setting up new products to arrive, new customers, web access set ups, etc.... will all be managed and controlled by Fred Santiago and Carin Diaz in this location. Customer Service will also be managed via our New Jersey Warehouse Central Operations in Fairview.

Systems will be changed over at the end of the week of March 25th. Web access to your inventory and the ability for you to order out product via our web interface may be delayed until the follow week or so. We will do everything in our power to make sure if there is a black out period that it will be a short one. Orders will be accepted via email or fax during this time.

California Warehouse

This facility will be moving to: AC&D c/o Brookvale International, 13060 Temple Avenue, City of Industry CA, 91746. The American Companies will be moving your inventory over to this facility at the end of the week of March 25th at no expense to our clients. Once our web application comes up you will have access to the inventory and will be able to order entry as you do today for anywhere in the country where AC&D is managing your warehouse and distribution needs.

Chicago Warehouse

This facility will remain "as is" with the exception of the systems changes. Once our 4PL web services comes up you will have full visibility once again.

Should you have any questions or concerns please feel free to call us at any time.
