

August 11, 2021*Ningbo Suspends Services at Port Terminal Due to COVID-19

COVID-19 has impacted the Ningbo Meidong Container Terminal, forcing an immediate suspension of all container services. Meishan Terminal issued a notice in the early morning stating that all container pick-up services will be suspended. The Ningbo City Health Commission confirmed at least one positive coronavirus case was identified. As a result, the Ningbo Health Commission stated that contact tracing is being managed immediately and efforts have been taken to begin environmental disinfection.

In addition, the Meishan Wharf issued a notice regarding the suspension of all in-containers services and decided to suspend all inbox services effective immediately.

This is reminiscent of what took place in S. China back in late May and handicapped the port of Yantian for weeks.

Should further developments take place or the situations worsens, we will keep you advised.
